Local people reap the benefits of Warburtons rise in success!

Warburtons new extension to their bakery operation is almost complete, as business continues to thrive in their Enfield Plant. Warburtons who moved to the area in 2003 investing £33 million in their then new site at Delta Park Industrial Estate, are now investing a further £17 million by building an additional production and distribution facility and creating a further 100 jobs.

The company's only London facility employed 160 in 2003, which quickly rose to 225 last year by working with North London Ltd and delivering a customised training programme for staff. With the new recruitment drive the company will soon employ 350 in the area.

For further information on the vacancies available log on to www.warburtons.co.uk or contact their recruitment manager Danielle Price on 020 8344 4400. Warburtons, who have a strong culture based around family ethos and quality, are truly turning the UK's leading independent bakery company into a national brand as they continue to invest in North London. Only this weekend they have significantly increased their sales value to leading supermarket chain Tesco.

Gary Ince, Chief Executive Officer, North London Ltd said "We are delighted that Enfield has proved to be a great place for Warburtons to do business. We will continue to work with them, particularly with their recruitment needs to ensure that their investment is successful."

Adrian Doran, General Manager of Warburtons comments "Enfield is not only a great location for our business, with excellent access to our core markets but it is also a business friendly area. With valuable support available from North London Ltd and Enfield Council our growth phase has moved at a faster pace.”

Cllr Mike Rye, Leader of Enfield Council said, “This is extremely good news for our borough proving that we can support growing businesses and see greater prosperity for our residents. I wish Warburtons every success with this latest expansion and thanks go to North London Limited for their work in attracting trade and business to Enfield.”
